

Are you passionate about working with older adults? Join the EmergingAging NYC Advisory Committee!

Who Should Apply?

- Emerging professionals* in the aging field who live and/or work in the NYC metro-area
- Those committed to growing the network of dedicated aging professionals

*Emerging is loosely defined as being early in your career in aging services

Why Join?

- Shape the organization's strategic direction
- Contribute expertise & skills
- Gain leadership experience
- Meet fellow emerging & established aging professionals

What's the Commitment?

- Participation in committee meetings,* event planning, and member engagement (up to 5 hrs/month)
- At least 1 year commitment on the committee requested

*Majority of committee meetings are virtual; Occasional in-person participation encouraged

Click Here to Apply!

Apply by May 14th. For more information or questions, contact emergingagingnyc@gmail.com

What is EmergingAging NYC?

Founded in 2012, EmergingAging NYC brings emerging professionals in aging together to learn about emerging trends and ideas in the field, network, and better lead other New Yorkers to serve older adults. We are dedicated to supporting emerging professionals from different disciplines, industries, and sectors through presentations, training, mentoring, and social events. EmergingAging NYC is a program of The New York Academy of Medicine (NYAM).

EmergingAging NYC is committed to building a diverse advisory committee. Applications are strongly encouraged from candidates from underrepresented minorities and/or of varying ages, abilities, and employment sectors. Applicants need not have any prior involvement with EmergingAging NYC to be considered. This is a volunteer appointment; no compensation provided.